

20 June 2022

Dear Members of the William Clarke College Community

It is with sadness I write to you advising that Dr Scott Marsh has tendered his resignation as Headmaster effective from 31 December 2022. Dr Marsh has accepted the position of Principal at one of Victoria's leading independent schools, Scotch College, Melbourne commencing at the beginning of 2023.

Scott has been with us at William Clarke College for more than fourteen years, the last six at the helm as Headmaster. He has been a visionary who has implemented many improvements across the school including restructuring the curriculum. Scott has enthusiastically engaged with both the students and staff and has established many innovations in education over his period as Headmaster.

He has managed the further development of the College into a well renowned educational institution with an enrolment in excess of 1,900 students. Scott's deep desire has been for students to not only reach for academic excellence but to also know Christ and to serve Him.

Equally, Scott has been instrumental in the establishment of the Branwhite Centre and other building projects around the campus.

The College Council greatly appreciates Scott's enthusiasm and devotion to his role. The repartee both around the Council table and outside the College is an indication of the high regard, approachability and warm relationship between Council and the Headmaster.

Whilst I'm sure you will share in our loss I am equally certain that you share with the College Council in wishing Scott, Anna and family well in their future endeavours interstate.

Kind regards

Philip Bell
